Democrats Fire GSA's Director

HARRISBURG (AP) — Democrats Wednesday voted to fire A. J. Caruso, a Harrisburg Republican, as the $20,000-a-year executive director of the General State Authority.

But the reason for his dismissal was challenged immediately by House Speaker H. G. Andrews of Cambria County, one of 10 Democrats on the board, who was absent from the meeting.

The firing was approved by a 9-1 vote. The lone dissent came from Rep. W. Stuart Helm, R-Armstrong, chairman of the House GOP Policy Committee. The other Republican board member — Senate Minority Leader James Berger of Potter County—was absent. The motion for dismissal was offered by Miss Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs, who said the post should go to a man with experience in the field of construction.

"Nonsense," Andrews said when informed of the explanation for the action.

"There isn't a single person on the board who knows much about construction," he told a newsman. "Furthermore, who's to say that a man with a lot of knowledge in the field of construction is capable of administering an agency of this kind."

Caruso sat glumly at the head of the table as the action proceeded. Asked for comment later, he said:

"No comment. I'm out of a job."

The board considered that Caruso, a 20-year state employee, should be given opportunity to acquire full retirement benefits so it made him deputy executive director until Aug. 22.

The current deputy, John J. Lynn of Philadelphia, who earns $15,500 a year, was tapped to move up to executive director.

Miss Blatt also called for a study of the way the GSA handles its insurance business. The agency, which finances public construction through bond issues, buys insurance through three brokers of record to secure the lowest premiums.

She suggested that the board's insurance committee study the prospect of channeling all GSA insurance through the same broker who handles Commonwealth insurance.

The board approved initial authorization of a $25,000 bond issue. It fixed Aug. 16 as the tentative bidding date subject to final approval at the board's July meeting.

"The attorney general spoke to 70 local law enforcement men from across the country who received their diplomas from the FBI National Academy. They were the 67th class to finish the FBI's special 12-week training course."

Kennedy told them that all law enforcement officers have sworn to uphold the law. "We have a duty to enforce the law. It is our job to enforce the law and there is only one way which we can do it and remain true to our oath. That is to enforce the law vigorously, without regional bias or political slant."

ferred to wait for the arrival Thursday evening of Andrei Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister. He was in Vienna when President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev agreed last weekend there must be an effective cease-fire in Laos.

New Instructions?
Delegates speculated that Gromyko is carrying new Kremlin instructions.

If Soviet action really brings a cease-fire, U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman is ready to start talking again at the conference about the future of the troubled jungle country.

After receiving a cable from the State Department, Harriman went to Soviet Ambassador Georgi Pushkin and told him the United States considers the Soviet Union and Red China as the cease-fire violators. He pleaded with Pushkin to help insure freedom for the international watchdog commission in Laos.

Although many sources are pessimistic about chances for creating a neutral Laos, the U. S. delegation retains some hope, based on a belief that the Soviet Union would not like to see Red China expand into the area.

When news of Padong's capture came, the United States considered pulling out. Then, one source said, it decided to stay and battle for a true cease-fire.

Later came the assertion that the United States was reverting to the stand it had taken with Britain before the conference opened May 16: No cease-fire, no negotiating.

According to information reaching the U. S. delegation, the pro-Communist forces in Laos have generally halted their forward movement since a cease-fire was proclaimed May 3, and they have concentrated their activity on the Padong area.

Experts Seen At Work In Explosions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who sabotaged three stations in the transcontinental TV and cable relay network on the Utah-Nevada border May 28—and why—is still a mystery. But it was the work of experts, two Senate hearings were told Wednesday.

A Defense Department communications specialist assured the senators the government has taken adequate steps to guard against more disruption of key communications facilities.

And Congress was urged to provide stiffer penalties for those who commit sabotage against facilities used for military or civil defense functions, as the three stations are.

The three unattended TV microwave and cable relay stations that were damaged are located in the desert, where they operate automatically. They are part of the backbone of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. system of relaying signals by line of sight, with stations about 30 miles apart.

"It was no amateur who did the job, from the results they achieved," Maj. Robert W. Ewell, of the Defense Department Office of Telecommunications, told the Senate Appropriations Committee.

And in testimony before the subcommittee of the Judiciary committee, J. J. McKenna, security officer of the longlines department of AT&T, also said the sabotage was inflicted by someone who knew explosives.

Ewell, who was testifying on Air Force budget requests, said there have been several conjectures about who engineered the blasts, "but I don't think we are ready to come up with any conclusive findings."

Apparently, he said, the stations were damaged with a plastic explosive.

Walter Dam Bill By House Unit

Associated Press Special Service WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Public Works Committee Wednesday approved a bill to name the Bear Creek Dam to be built on the Lehigh River in Pennsylvania in honor of Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa.

The committee approved another bill to designate the proposed Kettle Creek Dam in Pennsylvania as "Alvin R. Bush Dam" in honor of the former congressman from Pennsylvania who died in November 1959.

House Action Clears:

Legislation To Broaden Forests-Waters' Authority

HARRISBURG (AP) — Proposed legislation to broaden the authority of the Forests and Waters Department was cleared Wednesday for House action, possibly next week.

The administration-backed bill was given preliminary approval by the House State Government Committee.

Administration sources maintained silence on the future plans for the department. Unofficially, the measure was reported aimed at facilitating incorporation of a number of independent state agencies — especially those involving recreation — under one department.

Specifically, the legislation would amend the state administrative code to make the Forests and Waters Department a new agency—the Department of Conservation and Recreation.

First Under Power
The first independent agency that would be put under forests and waters is the State Historical and Museum Commission.

Reports also circulated that the newly named department would eventually have the Fish Commission and Game Commission—added to its jurisdiction.

Before it adjourned until next week the Senate approved 35-6, a bill banning discrimination in admission of students to colleges and universities. The measure was sent back to the House — which approved it earlier in the session—for agreement on minor amendments.

The proposal would ban discrimination on religious, racial or nationality grounds. All six negative votes were cast by Republicans.

Exempt from the statute are institutions which receive a majority of their financial support from religious sects.

In other legislative developments: Appropriations — The House moved into position for possible final action next Monday. Appropriations totaling $64 million. The 54-bill package would provide state aid for homes, hospitals and universities.

Boost Participation
Industrial Development — Senate-approved legislation boosting the amount of participation by the Commonwealth in industrial development projects was cleared for House floor action.

The bill would raise the present 30 per cent limit on state loans for industrial development to 40 per cent.

Motor Vehicles — Part of the Lawrence Administration's highway program was defeated in the House.

In quick succession the lawmakers defeated 100-97, a measure requiring side-view mirrors on cars and one setting a mandatory prison term for persons operating a car when their license has been revoked. It was defeated 14-181.

Good Morning!

As the Indian said, everyone is smoking the pipe of peace but no one is inhaling.

Meet Today
State Police — Commissioner Frank C. McCartney, of the state police, and Lawrence will meet Thursday to discuss recent criticism by the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors on channeling of State Police news through regional headquarters.

Harness Racing — The governor told newsmen his old friend Daniel Parish, Pittsburgh, first recommended that Republican Lawrence B. Sheppard, of Hanover, be named to the State Harness Racing Commission.

Lawrence said he would not attempt to influence the commission in any of its decisions on issuance of licenses.

Solons Pressured For Passage Of Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress felt the pressure Wednesday of the mounting administration drive for foreign aid. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana led the President's forces.

Rusk carried Kennedy's case for a $4.8-billion foreign aid bill to the House, and Mansfield carried it to the Senate.

Both hinged their appeals to the President's sober report to the nation Tuesday night, but the appeals met some opposition.

The strongest opposition focused on Kennedy's request for a five-year foreign aid program so the government could commit funds to a country for more than one year at a time.

Rusk told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that he came with a new sense of urgency because of the President's radio-TV report on his talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, President Charles de Gaulle of France, and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Would Be Tested
Mansfield told the Senate that its support of Kennedy's international policies, as outlined in his nationwide speech, would be tested by its vote on the foreign aid bill.

The new program was described again by Rusk in his testimony before the House committee. He presented similar testimony to the senate committee last week.

Rusk emphasized these points: 1. The President wants authority to commit foreign aid money for projects lasting as long as five years. "Long-term development cannot be achieved on the basis of annual commitments," Rusk said.

2. The bill would combine all foreign aid agencies into one under State Department control. It would be called the Agency for International Development (Aid).

3. Under the program, the administration would borrow money from the Treasury so it could make loans on long-term projects.

4. There would be a clear separation between military and economic aid.

5. Loans and grants should be made "without the strings which humiliate, offend or impair the freedom of others."

Ready To Pitch In

Rusk said other Western nations are ready to pitch in and help with foreign aid but they can't be expected to increase their aid "unless we can tell them what share we expect to provide."

"If we give this authority to you for five years," Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, said, "we have in effect kissed you goodbye."

Chairman Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., said, there has been a lot said about a new approach to foreign aid but "this sounds pretty familiar to me."

Five-year authority had been requested once by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, but Congress rejected the request.

West Pointers Urged To Aid Free World

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson urged the graduating class of the U. S. Military Academy Wednesday to help the free world "win the battle of ideas" in the cold war.

"Carry the message of America to all corners of the world," the Texas said in ceremonies attended by 9,000 parents, other relatives and friends in the academy field house overlooking the Hudson River.

He said armed strength and scientific achievement alone would not assure a peaceful future.

"That can be ours only if we win the minds of men for truth and right," he told the 534 graduates. "It is imperative that you prepare yourselves in every possible way to carry your full part in this endeavor."

ICBM Explodes In Its 'Coffin'

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An Atlas ICBM exploded Wednesday during a firing attempt from a "coffin complex" launcher.

The research and development shot was supposed to soar from a concrete shelter but instead went up with a roar moments after ignition.

The Air Force said there were no injuries.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sale of a 78 acre state-owned tract in East Stroudsburg to the borough for $395 was approved Wednesday by the House State Government Committee.

The property is located on Day Street.

Negotiations Set To Start With Castro

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee said Wednesday it felt the way was open for negotiations with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro on its plan to trade 500 tractors for 1,200 prisoners despite Castro charges of unnecessary delays.

Walter P. Reuther, committee chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said the committee would not be able to reply until Thursday to Castro's cable in which the Cuban prime minister outlined his terms for the proposed trade. He added that the committee felt Castro's terms "leave the way open for negotiations between the committee and Mr. Castro."

Reuther, in a statement for the committee, said: "Because of physical difficulties in getting the committee together today, and since they are all in separate parts of the country, we have nothing to announce this evening. We expect to have a reply ready tomorrow."

Reuther said no decision has been made as to whether the committee would send a delegation to Cuba as Castro specified in his message.

Castro had said: "The raising and negotiation of this problem cannot be made only by cable, and it is better that a delegation should be sent to Cuba. In this there should be one of the principal members of the committee, preferably Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt or Milton Eisenhower whose names, because they are better known in the political spheres, would contribute to the solution of the matter."

Mrs. Roosevelt, widow of the late president, is honorary chairman of the committee. Eisenhower, brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and president of John Hopkins University, is a co-chairman.

Reuther said the reply to Castro was delayed because efforts to set up a closed-circuit telephone conference in which all committee members could participate was not successful.

The committee wired Castro last Friday that it was prepared to meet with his representatives to work out details of the exchange. But it insisted on a reply by noon Wednesday whether Castro stood by an offer he made May 17 to trade tractors for the prisoners captured in the ill-fated April invasion of Cuba.

Castro's reply first was announced on the Havana radio 12 hours before the deadline. His cable to the committee followed.

Tractors for Freedom, Inc., was organized at the suggestion of President Kennedy. But Kennedy made it clear the U. S. government would play no part in any exchange. Reuther said the Castro cable has not been discussed with the President.

Info Centers For Travelers Planned

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence said Wednesday the state plans to set up information centers for travelers using interstate highways where billboards will be banned.

The governor told a meeting of the Pennsylvania Roadside Council the program is being developed by the Planning Board, and the departments of highways and commerce.

"At preliminary conference, the agencies have agreed that the Highways Department will probably provide the physical facilities needed to distribute travel information while the Department of Commerce will be responsible for providing the informational pamphlets, brochures and listings which will be needed," Lawrence said.

Safety Rest Areas
He added that the Highways Department now is studying the safety rest areas along the interstate system which will be most effective as sites for information centers.

Lawrence said a third information trailer to answer public ques-ries will be established this summer for the convenience of travelers using the Pennsylvania Turnpike. The center will be at Bedford.

The other two have been in operation during the summer months of 1959 and 1960 at Zellenople and Neshaunmy on the turnpike's western and eastern terminal points.

Billboards Control
A bill to control billboards along interstate roads was signed into law by Lawrence in April. The federal government has offered a bonus of one-half of one per cent in road aid to states banning signs on interstate routes. That offer expires at the end of the month but a move is afoot in Congress to extend the deadline.

Lawrence said the Highways Department is preparing to apply for the bonus now that the state has a billboard law.

The administration has estimated it would mean an additional $5 to $6 million in federal road aid if the state qualifies for the bonus.

Falcone Files For Parole

Record Harrisburg Bureau HARRISBURG — Daniel Falcone, who is serving a life sentence for the 1954 murder of a Palmerton couple, has filed application for parole.

The State Pardons Board will hear Falcone's appeal Friday.

The former Bangor councilman and Palmerton factory foreman was found guilty of first degree murder by a Carbon County jury on Jan. 29, 1955.

Falcone was charged with murdering Mrs. Mildred Daneker, his former married sweetheart, and Matthew Daneker, her husband and a Palmerton Justice of the Peace.

He shot them both with a revolver as they approached a Palmerton Church on the night of Oct. 3, 1954.

"Mentally Disturbed"

In his application for clemency he told the Pardons Board that at the time of the murder he was "mentally disturbed" and under a physician's care.

Falcone declared he is unable to recall any of the circumstances of the crimes.

The murders and the resultant trial provided Carbon County with one of its most sensational dramas in its history.

During the trial the defense sought acquittal on the claim that Falcone was not legally responsible for any acts he might have committed because he was suffering from "hysterical amnesia".

Falcone is serving his sentence in the State Correctional Institution at Rockview.

Raymond C. Wieseckel, director of parole, is acting as Falcone's agent.

Jobless Youths

What to do with unemployed youngsters, especially those in densely populated areas, is a major social problem. Youngsters in the 14-19 age bracket have not had time to acquire skills and job experience and therefore find it extremely difficult to get jobs.

According to Labor Department figures, nearly 500,000 boys and 281,000 girls in the teen-age group were unable to find work in April. The unemployment rate among these youngsters was reported at more than 13 per cent of the nation's labor force, about double the rate in other age groups.

The administration, its concern showing, is studying proposals for a youth corps along the lines of the CCC of the 1930s which put teenagers to work on conservation projects. Also being considered are federal subsidies for job-training programs in cooperation with private industry and labor unions.

The problem is likely to worsen this month when thousands more youngsters are out of school for the summer. Teen-age joblessness is not only a shameful waste of manpower, it is socially "explosive," as Dr. James B. Conant described it before a Washington conference.

Perhaps Labor Secretary Goldberg was not exaggerating when he told the conferees that "in the industrial cities of the North we are harboring forces far more hostile to the stability and welfare of our society than the mob violence" of racists in the South.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy has demonstrated the government can deal with adult racists. Dealing with youngsters is more complicated.

Humane Measure

Pending before the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives is a bill which deserves speedy reference to the full House for action, and swift approval both there and in the Senate, that it may become a part of the state's body of law.

It is the Blair-O'Dell bill for the humane slaughter of meat animals, which would extend to all Pennsylvania slaughtering plants the methods prescribed by the Federal government, in a law enacted in 1958, for any plants selling meat to the United States government.

Humane slaughter methods have been required in other countries for many years—for nearly a century in some—and have been used to some extent in this country for a considerable period of time. Yet many plants have been slow to adopt them, so that the supplying of meat to the American public is attended by a vast amount of needless animal suffering.

The Pennsylvania bill is fully justified on humane grounds alone, but would bring in its wake other benefits as well. Congress found, and declared, that humane slaughtering, in addition to preventing needless suffering "results in safer and better working conditions for persons engaged in the slaughtering industry; brings about improvement of products and economy in operations; and produces other benefits for producers, processors and consumers which tend to expedite an orderly flow of livestock and livestock products in interstate and foreign commerce."

The bill provides three alternate methods of humane slaughter, all of which render the animal insensible to pain before being shackled, hoisted, stuck and bled. One can be adopted in small plants for as little as $100; all of them quickly repay their costs in operational savings.

The enactment of the Blair-O'Dell bill would bring Pennsylvania into line with other states and countries in humane methods, and would work a hardship on no one at all. Its adoption therefore is in the public interest and should come without delay.

Lest We Forget

In the current excitement over Europe and President Kennedy's visits to Paris, Vienna, and London we lose sight of Cuba which is of equal if not greater importance at this moment. It is astonishing how those who accept a doctrine will not give up no matter what the historic evidence provides.

This becomes particularly dangerous when great influences are brought to bear upon public opinion to promote a doctrine rather than historic truth. Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" raised this issue when on May 3, he told students at the University of Michigan: "... once Fidel Castro's regime was labeled Communist, for the most part it became almost impossible for the American journalists and editors to go against the overwhelming public opinion, although it was the press that created the hostile opinion — like Frankenstein's monster."

In a word, Fidel Castro and his associates were converted to Marxism by the American press! But were not many of them Marxists before the American press ever heard of their names? Herbert Matthews' viewpoint is worth looking at, for if applied to other countries, it could be said that Khrushchev was not a Communist until we accused him of being the head of the Communist Party by the American press, particularly by those who are nastily anti-Communist.

On this theory, it could be said that Hitler was really not a Nazi but was "manufactured" into one by "The New York Times!" Matthews adds a very interesting moral factor to his philosophy. In his Ann Arbor speech, he admitted that Cuba was becoming more and more dangerous to the United States. But he holds that it did not have to be that — that Cuba did not have to develop toward socialism and totalitarianism.

Regarding a Communist regime as one whose leaders are Communists and which takes orders from the Kremlin, Matthews holds that Cuba was not such — that is until the American press made it wicked. But what about all the People's Republics? They started as coalition governments containing non-Communist elements. Czechoslovakia was an example of that until Jan Masaryk was either murdered or committed suicide.

An effort was made to form such a coalition People's Republic in China during the days when "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell and General George Marshall were active there.

In a word, Herbert Matthews adopts a very narrow definition of a Communist regime — one that cannot be supported by the history of Communist growth either in Europe or in Asia. Even in Russia, when Lenin took control in the Smolny Institute in Petrograd, he was associated with non-Bolshevik elements.

Leon Trotsky, for instance, was a Menshevik at the start and he became the second man in command.

Matthews said: "The American press made the mistake in trying to interpret the Cuban revolution in terms of our Anglo-Saxon, mature, democratic, and capitalistic way of life."

But that precisely is what Herbert Matthews has done, and it is interesting that he is so correct in analyzing the American attitude toward Leninist movements. Americans try to avoid regarding Communists as Communists on the assumption that no one can be quite so wicked.

But there are now many Communists in the world and there are Communists in many governments. And one needs only to look at the fact squarely without apology. Certainly, those who are now in charge of Cuba call their government Socialistic, which is the most that Khrushchev says about his.

According to "Editor and Publisher," Matthews ended his speech at Ann Arbor with a statement that: "The intense emotionalism with which the American press covered the executions following Castro's triumph has had a lasting adverse impact on American-Cuban relations."

Now precisely what emotions other than were expressed should the American press have exhibited during the murders which Castro's revolution — social or political — committed? As a people, we do not usually enjoy wholesale murders.

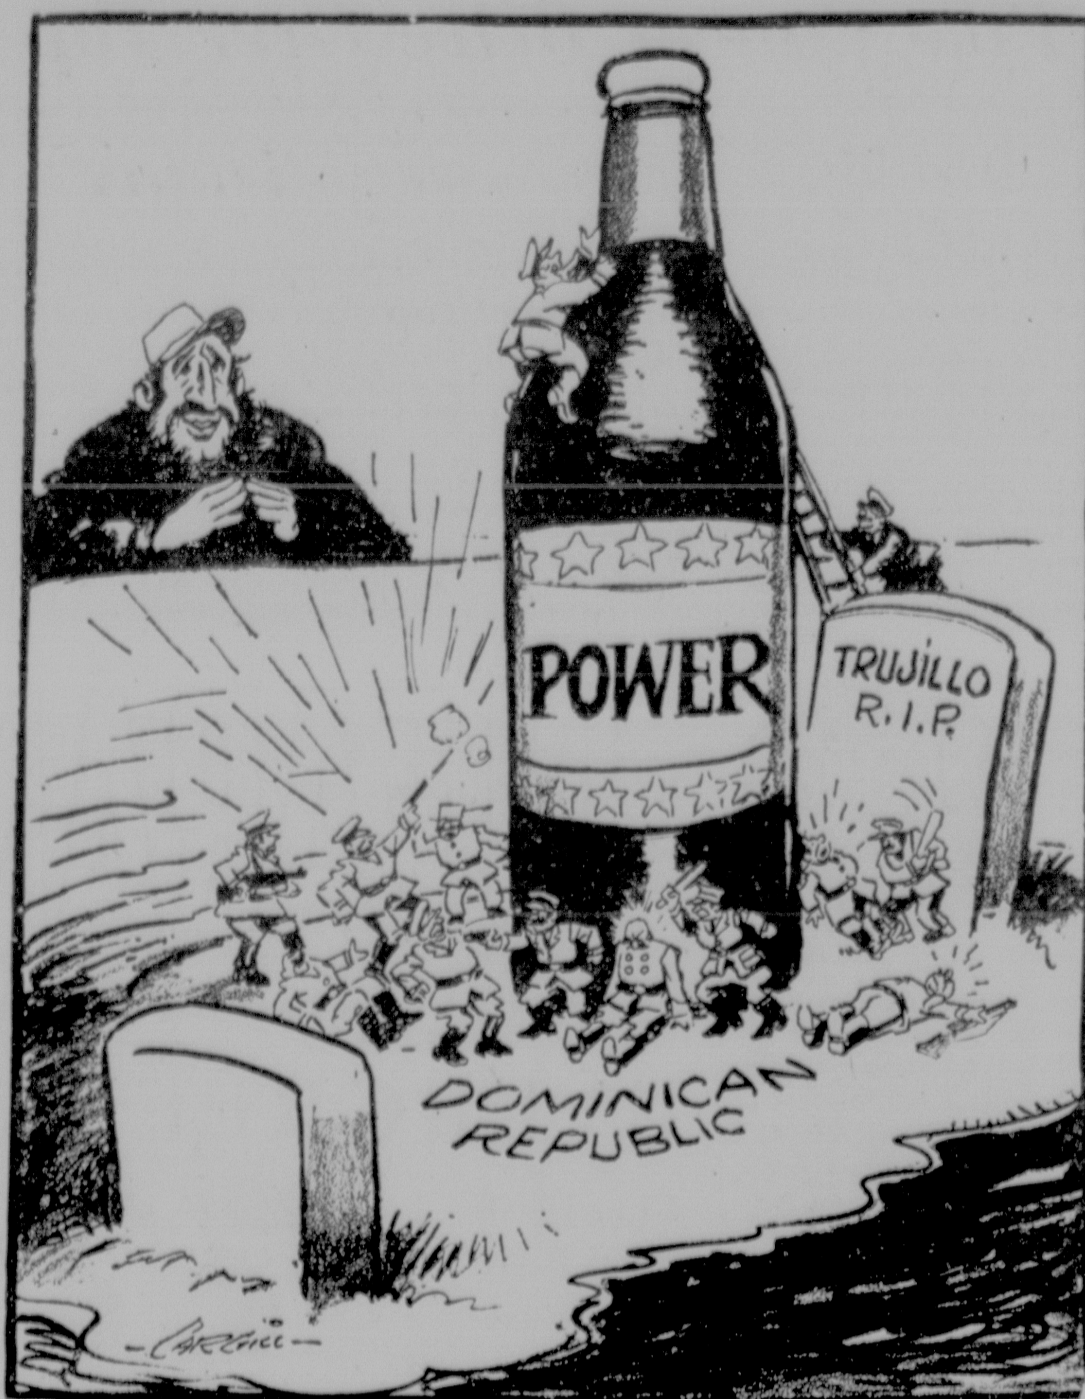

In fact, we do not enjoy them even retail. Perhaps that is why bull-fighting never took hold in this country. Murder is very unpopular except on TV and there nothing is real. Perhaps we could have liked Castro better, had he killed fewer Cubans.

It would seem that Herbert Matthews was so defensive of an actual and manifest evil and that history unfortunately is giving his ideas a raw deal.

Could Happen

By Mason Denison (Last Of A Series Of Three)

Harrisburg — Wouldn't you be delighted to have a highway detour routed through your back yard or preferably your front yard?

How utterly ridiculous! Of course it is — or is it?

Perhaps Pennsylvania's landowners and taxpayers would do well to look twice at the "highway land commissar bill" — HB 1259 — now before the State Senate after having skittered handsomely through the House.

Look at this section of the bill — Section (16) — which gives the Secretary of Highways the right of "acquisition of property necessary for detours."

Think of that for a moment. Not the right to lease or rent property to establish a detour — but to acquire the property outright!

In other words, if the Department of Highways wishes to construct a detour through your front yard, it would have the right to three months or possibly a year, depending upon how long the detour lasted — sell the property, not necessarily to you but to a third party!

Utterly ridiculous! Of course it is — or is it? This is what "could" happen — if the highways "land commissar" were so inclined. Of course he wouldn't dare be — or would he? Some politicians do funny things when given a piece of rope.

Well, anyway that's the way the bill reads. No restrictions, no safeguards, no protection for the poor little property owner — who could be you!

And then there is Section (21) which permits "the acquisition of property to provide a substitute right-of-way for a public utility whose right-of-way has been acquired by the department."

Why should the Pennsylvania Department of Highways become the real estate agent for public utilities? Under state law public utilities already have the right to condemn private property for rights-of-way. Why shouldn't such a "personal" matter be left between the property owner and the utility itself?

And here's an interesting one: Section 804 reads:

"Whenever possession of property acquired for highway purposes is withheld, the Secretary (of Highways) may petition the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is located, for a returnable in ten days to show cause why a writ of possession should not be issued."

Heavens to Betsy — they allow 20 days to file an answer to a complaint in divorce!

These are only some of the provisions contained in House Bill 1259 — already passed by the House and now before the Senate.

It's a top-heavy bill, unquestionably, and its proponents and the administration backing the bill will now vow and stand aghast at the assertion that it is a reckless piece of legislation.

Explanations are always available. Intent, meanings and expressions always can be warped and avoided in the hands of the adept.

Backers of the bill can insist that what has been related these past three days in this column "isn't so — that isn't the intent at all."

We're not concerned with political verbiage. The words printed in the bill speak for themselves.

HB 1259 can truly be called the "highway land commissar bill" as written at present.

Safeguards of the public interest are not incorporated in the legislation — as anyone can see who will take the time to read the legislation.

The motivation behind the bill — to help implement a highway program for the future for Pennsylvania — is excellent. The manner in going about accomplishing this end though, as personified in HB 1259, is anything but a reflection of "looking after constituent best interests" on the part of Pennsylvania's $900-a-year "statesmen!"

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a shell factory in Wheeling, W. Va. The workers in the plant managed to escape without any injuries.

How many remember in 1931 when the bungalow of Charles Carter was destroyed by fire. Mount Pocono firemen listed the cause as "unknown."

Milton Pollen was named as basketball coach at Bangor. He replaced Richard Busby.

Coming out of church, Mrs. Peterson asked her husband, "Do you think that Johnson girl is tinting her hair?" "I didn't even see her," admitted Mr. Peterson. "And that dress Mrs. Hansen was wearing," continued Mrs. Peterson. "Really! Don't tell me you think that's the proper costume for a mother of two."

"I'm afraid I didn't notice that, either," said Mr. Peterson. "Oh, for heaven's sake," snapped Mrs. Peterson. "A lot of good it does you to go to church!"

Medicare Foes Win

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — It now looks as if foes of President Kennedy's medical care plan for the aged have won their fight this year.

Prospects that the President's proposal, to put this care under the Social Security system will come to a decisive test in Congress at this session have been all but dissolved by two new developments.

Development No. 1: Democratic congressional leaders have informed the President that there can be no showdown vote in the House this year because the House Ways and Means Committee, where the Medicare plan must originate, will not approve it.

The President was told that the committee's Medicare hearings this month are mere "window dressing" since the administration's legislation has only nine sure votes in the 25-member committee.

Furthermore, the legislators reported that it is now doubtful that liberals will try to compel action in the Senate by offering the plan as a "rider to other social security legislation already passed by the House. They have been told that influential House leaders would rather let the plan die than accept it as a "rider."

Development No. 2: Gov. David Lawrence, a leading Kennedy backer, is throwing full Democratic support in Pennsylvania behind state legislation to implement an "alternative" Medicare plan that foes of the President's program are pushing as a means of thwarting congressional action this year.

Known as the Kerr-Mills medical care program, this "alternative" to the Kennedy plan was passed by Congress in the closing months of the Eisenhower Administration to give states a chance to prove that a federal Medicare plan is not needed. It provides federal grants to states to set up their own medical care programs for the aged under their public assistance programs.

The unexpected switch of Lawrence, who is the first Democratic governor of a "big" eastern state to back the "alternative," represents a major breakthrough for foes of the President's program.

It provides federal grants to states to set up their own medical care programs for the aged under their public assistance programs.

The unexpected switch of Lawrence, who is the first Democratic governor of a "big" eastern state to back the "alternative," represents a major breakthrough for foes of the President's program.

Known as the Kerr-Mills medical care program, this "alternative" to the Kennedy plan was passed by Congress in the closing months of the Eisenhower Administration to give states a chance to prove that a federal Medicare plan is not needed. It provides federal grants to states to set up their own medical care programs for the aged under their public assistance programs.

Losing Together

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Dear Doctor: Have you heard about TOPS?

Before TOPS, my overweight figure used to depress me until I just didn't care. No pill, no vitamin, no crash diet would help. I'd take off 20 pounds and then put back 30 or 40!

Now, through TOPS — "Take Off Pounds Sensibly" — I've lost 1

Council Awards Contract

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night awarded a contract for 900 tons of F-1 hot laid asphaltic concrete to Herbert R. Imbt, Inc., Stroudsburg, RD 4, on its bid of $106.00 a ton. The only other bidder, Shiffers Bituminous Service of Stroudsburg, quoted $106.50 a ton.

The board accepted the resignation of Ernest H. Wyckoff as a member of Stroudsburg Parking Authority and appointed Edward Steinhauer to serve the balance of his term until June 1, 1963. Samuel F. Sullivan, whose term expired June 1, was re-named to a five-year term.

Council authorized transfer of $4,973.60, representing allocation to the borough from the state of the net amount received from the two percent tax paid upon premiums by foreign fire insurance companies, to the Phoenix Firemen's Relief Assn., as required by law.

Council granted permission to Fire Chief Robert Phillips to take the Seagrave pumper of the fire department to Fullerton on June 17 for the Four County Firemen's Convention parade and to William Tarr, 533 Thomas St., to cut the curb at his home for construction of a ramp to a proposed car port.

Johnson To Journey For Jaycees

WILLIAM D. Johnson, president of Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce, will leave Friday morning for Newark, N. J., to confer with Thomas Wilkins, vice president in charge of public relations for P. Ballantine. He will be joined there by other state officers.

Johnson said last night that the purpose of the meeting is to make plans for the re-evaluation of the "Roll the Barrel" program which is sponsored by the beverage company.

Following the talk he and the other officers will leave for the Jaycee's Road-o, state level contest, in Lebanon where he will be the main speaker.

Otto Storm Services Held

Pallbearers were Edwin Becker, George Bogert, Howard Bush, Clyde Cramer, Harry Niering and Charles Wilson.

Peterson Receives High Bell Award

JOHN Morgan Davis, lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, last night presented Bell Telephone Co.'s new Good Neighbor Award to Walter C. G. Peterson, a plant department service foreman, for outstanding community service.

The presentation took place at the Penn-Stroud Hotel at the close of a dinner attended by a number of company officials and close friends and associates. Budd Van Horn, local Bell manager, served as toastmaster and explained that Peterson was selected for the award by those best suited to make the decision—his fellow workers and a cross-section of the people within the community.

Assemblyman Van D. Yetter, D, Monroe, spoke briefly in praise of Peterson's varied activities in the community. He also introduced Davis, the keynote speaker.

The lieutenant governor prefaced his congratulations to Peterson with the statement that government, however good or bad, is simply a reflection of the people's wishes and actions. "If they want good government, they can have it, but they must make sacrifices if they are to move forward."

Davis cited Peterson's interest in civic affairs and his devoted service to the YMCA, Red Cross, Rotary Club, United Church of Christ, the National Guard and other community organizations, along with the qualities of leadership which have elevated him in the Bell organization to a position of responsibility after starting his career as a laborer.

Seese was arrested twice within six days by Stroudsburg police.

Bear Creek Dedication Saturday

THE PHILADELPHIA headquarters of the U. S. Army State Department of Forests and Waters yesterday invited residents of Northeastern Pennsylvania to the dedication of the giant Bear Creek Dam near White Haven, Saturday at 11 a. m.

Goddard urged the public to see the colorful ceremony and visit "this massive dam which will bring flood protection to more than 20 communities in the Lehigh Valley. The dam itself is a spectacle and the view from the top—looking across the Poconos—is magnificent."

Goddard stated that the park is now being developed and can be used by boaters and fishermen as construction continues.

Top Personnel

The house is owned by Wilbur Flory who told Chief Strunk that the house was covered by insurance.

Laurel Festival Underway Today

WARM weather of the past few days has set the stage for the opening today of the annual Pocono Mountains Laurel Blossom Festival.

Cruisers Equipped With 'Life'

POLICE cruisers of two boroughs have been equipped with a new type device for use in attempting artificial respiration of victims of drowning or asphyxiation.

Known as airways, the mouth-to-mouth devices differ from earlier models in that they have valves inserted within the breathing tube to prevent the air from escaping back through the tube.

Stroudsburg Borough purchased four of the small airways, two for police cruisers and two for the playground and swimming pool. East Stroudsburg bought one for its police cruiser. They were purchased through Clinton G. Morrison, salesman for a Hazleton medical supply house.

Dear Abby

Another 'Do-Gooder'

Dear Abby: Please answer this before Sunday. What would happen if, during a wedding ceremony when the preacher asks, "If there is anyone present who knows why these two should not be joined in holy matrimony, speak now or forever hold your peace," somebody stood up and stated an objection?

You see, Abby, this girl is 17 and pregnant. The man is a widower, about 30. He has two children 3 and 5. He doesn't know who this girl got mixed up with, and says he doesn't care. All he is looking for is a mother for his children. And all the girl is looking for is a man who will save her from disgrace. Shouldn't some decent citizen object to this marriage?

NEEDS AN ANSWER
Dear Abby: In my book, there is one ingredient that is essential to the success of every marriage — two people who truly need each other. This couple qualifies.

Dear Abby: I am a woman who has been a "practical nurse" for thirty years. I have been engaged to stay in homes with as many as six children while their parents have gone on vacations for a month at a time. Yesterday I was called by a wealthy woman who asked me if I would accept a job in her home for three weeks while she and her husband took a trip. She said she had no children, but would pay me my regular fee to stay there and take care of her dog! Would you have accepted the position?

INSULTED
Dear Abby: You're dog-gone right I would have!

Dear Abby: I have been going "steadily" with a very nice boy, but he has one very bad fault. When he walks, his back looks like a wet noodle, and his nose is poked down toward the ground. When we are waiting for a bus, he leans on anything that is handy. I would like to tell him to improve his posture, but I don't want to hurt his feelings. He is 15. Can you give me some advice?

SLUMPY'S GIRL
Dear Abby: If you like this boy, tell him in a friendly way that he would be much better looking if he straightened up and stood and walked erectly. If he likes you, he will realize that you are telling him for his own good, and he won't be hurt.

Dear Abby: About two years ago an unusual item appeared in your column. I thought it was wonderful and clipped it out. It was your recipe for happiness. Would you please print it again for others who might have missed it? It has helped me so very much. Thank you.

MAXINE D.

Several Water Gap friends attended the Baptist Church, East Stroudsburg Sunday night to visit with Mr. and Mrs. (Edith Voorhees) Miner Stearns after the service. Dr. Stearns had shown slides depicting scenes in Europe, their co-workers to some of the Christians won by the radio gospel messages. The Stearnses reported that they had been able to have a family reunion with his brother Elmer Stearns and family and a sister Miss Marian Stearns. The couple were the guests of Mrs. May Fabinger and Miss Jean Lowry of Broad St., Stroudsburg for the two nights of their Monroe County visit.

Penn-Can Highway Work Progressing Rapidly

GOV. NELSON Rockefeller of New York Monday announced a $63.4 million program to speed major arterial road construction among which will be completion of the Penn-Can Highway from Canada to the Pennsylvania border by 1964.

Meanwhile, the Pennsylvania Dept. of Highways office at Allentown reported that the location study on the portion of the Penn-Can in Monroe County from the interchange with Route 940 near Stillwater Lake to the Wayne County line has been completed.

The section is not yet in the final design stage, however, a department spokesman said.

Under Design

Present status of the highway in Monroe County shows the interchange with 940 under design.

Four stages of the eastern terminus of the Shortway, which will also serve as the southern portion of the Penn-Can, are currently under construction, including two sections of the Stroudsburg Thruway.

Rockefeller's announcement said the plan will also permit completion of the remainder of Interstate Route 81 — the Penn-Can — in Syracuse by 1965, one year ahead of schedule.

Decline After Dividend

By William A. Doyle
Q. Can you explain why a stock often drops in price after its dividend is raised. Here's an example. On March 22, the directors of Pacific Gas & Electric voted to increase the dividend on each share of common stock from 55 cents to 70 cents every three months. The market price of the stock dropped about $1.50 almost immediately. Why?

A. There's one adage in Wall Street that explains this: "Sell on the good news." Yes, it does sound silly. But here's how it works.

Many people who follow the stock market, especially the professional traders, will sell a stock when some good news is announced about that stock.

Their reasoning is that many other people (most non-professionals) will jump in to buy the stock on the good news and that they will sell out at a good price. Also, good news often leaks out and gets around before it is formally announced. If the people who have advance knowledge of the news do a lot of buying, that will often send the price of the stock up. Then, if they and others sell when the good news is official, the price of the stock may dip.

Many security analysts and other students of the financial scene follow individual stocks closely. They keep tabs, not only on a company's past and present earnings, dividends, etc., but also on its prospects for the future.

Some good analysts are often quite accurate in predicting when a dividend on a certain stock will be raised or when other good news will break.

The dividend increase on Pacific Gas & Electric common stock wasn't a really big surprise. This is a well-managed utility company, serving a growing area of the country. A big problem for investors in this stock has been the California Public Utility Commission's strict and, perhaps, unrealistic regulation of the company's rates.

Nevertheless, the company has grown, increased its investment and its profits. As profits have grown, so have dividends.

Q. Some years ago I made a loan to a friend (?) who gave me as collateral a certificate for 300 shares of Gas Car Manufacturing Co. capital stock. I have not seen this friend (?) since. Am I stuck?

A. Indeed you are. Gas Car Manufacturing Co. was incorporated in South Dakota on Nov. 6, 1908. Its corporate charter was for a term of 25 years. When the charter expired in 1933, no one applied to extend it. In 1910, it did have a representative in New York City.

Some experts on this subject assure me that you can consider the stock worthless. You don't say when you made that loan to your (?) friend. But the stock may have been worthless when you let him con you into this.

Frankly, you were silly to make the loan without checking the value (?) of the stock. You could have done that by picking up a phone and asking for a quotation from a broker.

That's a pretty good rule for anybody to follow when some friend (?) offers to put up stock as collateral for a loan.

Remove Wax Figure

BERLIN (AP)—A life-sized wax figure of Adolf Eichmann, now on trial in Israel on charges of murdering the murder of 600,000 Jews under the Nazis, was removed from a Berlin fairground yesterday after complaints from local newspapers and citizens. It had been billed as an extra attraction in the waxworks display of murderers and freaks.

No Proof Population Of Birds dips

By George Abraham —
BIRDS AND PESTICIDES — I receive many letters from readers telling me that our bird population is dwindling, mainly because of the indiscriminate use of chemicals such as pesticides and weed-killers.

It is true that birds eat worms which have been treated with DDT and other chemicals, but is there any proof that these materials are actually killing off our birds?

I've checked with several bird specialists and they tell me there is no proof that our bird population is dwindling through the use of chemicals. Other factors such as violent storms have been blamed for reduced bird populations.

This department would like to hear from readers pro and con on the subject of bird poisoning. If you have information either for or against the idea, please write and tell me.

This Week's Mulch

Vermiculite, a newer mulch material is obtained by heating mica to high temperatures until it pops. As a mulch it is weed-free and sterile, and has great ability to absorb and retain moisture. To me, vermiculite's best use for the home gardener is starting seeds and cuttings, and as a soil conditioner.

When mixed with a heavy soil, vermiculite loosens and aerates it, encouraging lusty root growth and retaining moisture. The material is practically indestructible, but don't expect it to be rich in minerals. It's not only sterile but devoid of nutrients.

Next week: Buckwheat hulls. Are they useful?

Cut Flowers

Roses and other cut flowers will last longer if you cut them with a sharp knife. Cut stems on an angle so you'll have greater "drinking" surface. Always arrange flowers in hot water (110 degs. or so) because it's thinner than cold water and goes up the stems easier.

A wilted pompon, rose or snapdragon can be revived quickly by immersing in warm or hot water. You can often salvage a droopy flower by immersing the stem in a 5 percent solution of soda water. Put one part baking soda to 19 parts of water. After 3 hours, replace with room temperature water. Florists use this trick to perk up shipped-in flowers.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK — W. S. of Portland: "Last year our tomatoes were allowed to grow on the ground, and as a result the snails ate half of them. Would it be better if we pruned and staked our tomatoes? Please tell me which method is best."

There are two schools of thought on growing tomatoes: (1) Staking and pruning and (2) Mulching. Staking and pruning calls for extra work, but it may result in earlier fruit (1 to 2 weeks) and more uniform production.

The "hands" or clusters of fruit ripen one after another, as they go up the plant and you have cleaner, more perfect fruits, free of soil and snail and rots. Staked plants look better psychologically, and are easier to spray as well as harvest. They also color up better.

Disadvantages include sunburning of fruit on sparse-foilage types. Staked tomatoes dry out faster than mulched ones. Oddly enough, tomato leaves become larger when pruned, than when left on the ground.

I don't bother to stake or prune my tomatoes. Rather, they are mulched with straw and allowed to ramble. If you're a pruning and staking adherent, then here's all there is to it. Start staking when plants are a foot or so tall.

Drive a rod or wooden stake (8' high) a foot into the ground and 4 or 5 inches away from the plant. As the tomato grows, tie it rather loosely to the stake, using strips of rag.

To prune, you snip out a "sucker", or growth found in the angle where a leaf attaches to the main stem. Don't worry about removing future tomatoes, as the plants are prolific and will send for more blossoms and buds. You'll find that after each three sets of leaves on the main stem, a flower cluster appears.

This repeats itself as the tomato vine grows up the stem, and you may have anywhere from 6 to 10 flower clusters on a single stem. Averaging 5 fruits per cluster, you can figure about 40 or 50 fruit on a single stem.

D. D. of Stroudsburg: "Is it necessary to have more than one wisteria vine for flowering? Mine makes wonderful growth, but never blossoms."

You need but one vine for flowering. Your trouble may be due to rich soil, shade, age of plant. It often takes wisterias 8 years or more before they start to bloom. Wisterias are often stubborn and will bloom when they get good and ready.

Plants grown from seed will bloom just as well as the grafted types.

Do not allow suckers to sprout from the base of the plant, since most plants are grafted.

Synod Adopts Coordinated Program

THE GENERAL Synod of the Reformed Church in America voted yesterday to adopt a co-ordinated national plan to carry the Gospel to areas having the greatest need, and to insure the wisest use of available resources. The Reformed Church cooperates with other Protestant Churches, and especially with those of the Reformed and Presbyterian family, with the objective to "church America responsibly."

The Board of North American Missions, which supervises the denomination's church extension program, has a total of $2,888,416 on loan to congregations for the construction of churches and parsonages.

A total of $1,073,225 was contributed during the year for the mission work of the denomination in Mexico, Canada, on Indian reservations, and in both mountain and metropolitan areas.

The Reformed Church cooperates with the United Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church, U. S., as they support and work with the National Presbyterian Church of Mexico.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

When you meet yourself coming back it's time to Whoa! But the difficulty is that anybody who stops suddenly these days is likely to cause a human traffic jam as everybody heading every direction starts piling up on each other.

Garden Club members heading home from the Regional luncheon yesterday were already thinking about what they were supposed to do for their own Garden Club luncheon next week, and getting Mountain Manor and Mountain Lake House all confused in their thinking.

Laurel Princesses heading into town this afternoon will be getting confused with Miss America's heading out and Miss Pocono Mountains which is week after next.

The Laurel Blossom Assembly on Friday night at Pocono Manor seems to have the field pretty well to itself except there's the problem of snoring baby sitters by the score just before graduation.

Then on Saturday, the Leisure Hour will be heading for Hershey and everybody else will be heading for the Coronation at Hawthorn Inn with everybody everywhere having to hustle home to get ready for the Alumni banquets which are all over the place.

I think if we just picked up our feet, the momentum would carry us along without walking, but it seems safer to take the whole thing at a dog trot. I'd hate to get trampled to death.

Norman Gregory At Reunion At Ursinus

Norman Gregory attended the 40th reunion of his graduating class of 1921 at Ursinus College, Collegeville this weekend.

Many of his classmates, to whom he was better known as "Pope" were back for the reunion. Their business meeting and a social time was held in the home of Dr. Donald L. Helfrich, president of Ursinus College, and also a 1921 graduate.

A reception for Mr. Helfrich was held in the library of the college for other classes represented.

Representing Mr. Gregory were Mrs. Gregory and their daughter, Mrs. Norma Weiss who is also an alumna of the college, graduating with a BS degree in the class of 1947. She is the wife of M. F. Weiss Jr., and their children, Florence and Norma, accompanied their mother and grandparents to the reunion.

Mrs. Hamblin New Director Of Garden Club Region 2

Mrs. Russell Hamblin, Stroudsburg, was installed as director of Region 2, Pennsylvania Federation of Garden Clubs, at the regional meeting held yesterday at Mountain Manor.

The Monroe County Garden Club was hosts to the 85 representatives of the ten member clubs and had featured in their decorations the state tree, flower and bird; hemlock, laurel and ruffed grouse.

The table centerpiece combined all three on a mossy tray. Blooming laurel added to the decorations in the dining room as well as in the recreation room where hemlock was also used lavishly.

Mrs. Edgar Van Why, president of the Monroe County Garden Club, welcomed the group. Mrs. Charles Roeder, director, introduced the state officers including the state president.

Reports were given on regional and state projects including World Gardening for which slides have been contributed. Among the reports of the individual clubs were those of the Monroe County club given by Mrs. I. B. Kiffin and the Portland Garden Club by Mrs. Bert Transue, Portland.

Mrs. Charles L. Behr, first director of the region installed the officers. In addition to Mrs. Hamblin they included Mrs. Earl E. Beeton, assistant director; Mrs. Bert Transue, Portland, recording and corresponding secretary and Mrs. H. S. Meyer, treasurer.

Mrs. Hamblin spoke briefly following her installation. Members of the local garden club contributed to the luncheon. Mrs. Willis Goddard made place cards; Miss Grace DePue, identification cards; and Mrs.

Carl Wagner, Mrs. Bernard Peters and Mrs. William Howell, corsages and flower arrangements. In addition, Mrs. A. Starr Phelps, horticulture chairman, and Mrs. Russell Hamblin, landscape and design chairman, of the region had arranged a display including the box huckleberry, oldest living plant; a pure white rhododendron and rings of sassafras and larch with other unusual plants.

Game Commission posters and Wild Life material were also displayed. The speaker, Howard De Beamer, demonstrated flower arrangements including one for Father's Day featuring red carnations and cigarettes.

Refreshments of angel cake and tea and coffee were served by Mrs. A. H. Mathieson, Mrs. Effie Heller, Mrs. Anna Woodling, Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mrs. F. Ellenberger.

The program for the next meeting will be a surprise.

AAUW Grants-In-Aid For Two High School Graduates

Two Monroe County girls graduating from high school this month have just been notified that they have been awarded grants-in-aid given by the Stroudsburg Branch of the American Assn. of University Women.

They are: Phyllis Pope, Coolbaugh Twp. High School, and Rosemary Barr, Portland, a student in the East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School.

The Stroudsburg AAUW gives a grant each year to a girl from one of the four high school districts in the county, rotating the districts in regular succession. The grants of $100 each are awarded to a girl who has been accepted for admission to a four-year college granting a B.A. or B.S. degree.

Phyllis Pope, a high honor student throughout her years at Coolbaugh Twp. High School, has been vice president of her school's National Honor Society; co-editor and editorial writer of the Coolbaugh Crier; a member of the glee club, a cheerleader and a scorekeeper. She will attend the Pennsylvania State University.

Rosemary Barr is a member of the National Honor Society at East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School, was on the staff of the yearbook, a senior play promoter, and a member of the Future Teachers of America. She was also vice president of the student council in her Junior year. Rosemary plans to attend Marywood College.

"The reason why two grants were made in two high schools this year is because proceeds from the Summer outdoor Book Fair, which supports this project as well as the Fellowship project of the National AAUW, were large enough to permit more than one award."

Any interested persons in the community may donate used books to the Book Fair which will be held this Summer from July 5 through 8 on the porch at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

THE MAIL ARRIVES

bringing a friendly letter from Leo T. Foley, of Moscow, author of the delightful book of verse, "These Things are Mine" being sold in our Wyckoff book department. Mr. Foley says he'll be happy to be a guest on a future Wyckoff radio program; that my request brought back memories of his The Poet The Organ days on CBS, and adds, "Remind me to tell you about 'Aunt' Gladys Maloney from Portumna, Ireland."

The mail also brings a not-so-pleasant letter from a radio listener who writes, "I enjoy your program and think I would like you personally except for one thing. You mention the fine stores in Stroudsburg and why people should shop there. I'll bet you don't spend ten dollars a year in any store (except grocery) other than Wyckoff's. What about THAT?"

My critic is very probably right. I spend very little indeed, except right here in Wyckoff's, for a number of reasons. First of all, I like doing business with Wyckoff's. The quality of Wyckoff merchandise and the selections are good; the trade names are the finest; I can shop for complete ensembles at one time thanks to the many varied departments. I can shop easily, throughout the day or on my lunch hour; I find the prices reasonable, plus which I am given an employee discount; and I know that both the Wyckoff management and the manufacturer will stand back of the merchandise sold me.

There are, of course, occasions when it is impossible for me to get exactly what I require at Wyckoff's... but these occasions are so rare they are almost memorable. At such times, I look elsewhere in town, and on very rare occasions make an out-of-town purchase. But I'll tell you this, my expenditures anywhere but home are so small they wouldn't buy beans for a beanbag, which is something even a great many of our area's own business people couldn't truthfully say. (How about you?)

I shan't be at all surprised if, one of these days, a customer walks into Wyckoff's, sits down upon one of the pretty pink-upholstered stools at our Charles of the Ritz bar, and says, "I'll have a Pineapple Yum Yum with three dips of Pistachio Mint." In the first place, our C-R bar is one of the most refreshing-looking places in the entire store, and so cool and tempting they're actually delicious, are our new cosmetics for summer. For instance: Revlon has a whole new line of Sugar Coats (matchable pastel nail polishes at 90c, and delicate Spun Gold tones at 1.25). And here are some of the names: Frosted Pistachio Mint (a real green) Frosted Sugar Peach, Frosted Sugar Mauve, Frosted Pink Platinum, Frosted Butter Pecan, Frosted Pineapple Yum Yum, etc. DuBarry adds to the ice-cream-parlor-atmosphere by coming forth with Flaming Sherbet lipsticks at 1.50, enticingly displayed in a big gold sherbet cup on a mound of styrofoam. Guess I'll have a banana split one of these days with dips of Frosted Pistachio Mint, Frosted Butter Pecan, and Flaming Sherbet, topped by that old favorite, Cherries in the Snow. Maybe I'll get pretty sick at my tummy (okay, sick in the head too!) but I bet I'll look stunning when fluoresced!... For those who enjoy experimenting with eye shadows in all colors, an inexpensive and tidy way is Revlon's new plastic shadow bar, which contains Pastel Blue, Blue Green, Lavendar, Silver Sheen, Moss Green, Sugar Blue, and Blue Budd, at 2.50... My problem right now is getting a tan for the Tamiment Fashion Show on June 21st. I'd love to be brown with my bare-necked dress, but somehow the sun doesn't seem to fade me. So I shall try a bottle of Antoine's bain de soleil, which, I read in a certain column, is France's favorite sun lotion. NOW let's see what I can do with this skin of mine. The bain de soleil, small size, is just 2.00 at Wyckoff's... Why don't you join us at Tamiment at 8:30 on the 21st? Miss Jantzen will be one of many lovely models wearing one-of-a-kind, non-commercial gowns from Israel and casual wear from Wyckoff's. A 1.50 ticket includes an opportunity to win one of many expensive and lovely prizes, refreshments, and dancing for those who desire to stay. Tickets are available at Wyckoff's gift wrap center, and bus transportation may be arranged by those who are going alone, or who do not drive. SEE YOU THERE? I do hope I will!

Tribe Triumphs, Ups AL Lead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant kept three streaks alive Wednesday night as he shut out the Washington Senators 11-0 for the league-leading Cleveland Indians.

It was the ninth straight victory for the Indians, the seventh without a loss for Grant and the fifth consecutive loss for the Senators, who fell into seventh place behind Boston.

The victory pushed the Indians a half-game ahead of the idle Detroit Tigers. The two clubs open a four-game series in Detroit with a two-night doubleheader Thursday.

The Indians rapped 11 hits and were aided by five Washington errors.

Included were home runs by Willie Kirkland and Woodie Held. The Indians collected two runs in the first without a hit on an error and four straight walks by starting pitcher Pete Burnside.

The Indians jumped on Burnside's relief Marty Kutyna, for six more runs and seven hits. John Klippstein, third Washington pitcher, allowed three runs, two of them earned, on four hits over the final 5 2-3 innings.

Penn-Stroud Kills Wyckoff With 17 Runs

THE PENN STRUOD wore themselves out running as they topped Wyckoff-Sears, 17-2, in a Stroudsburg Little League game last night.

Tinney was the winning pitcher for the Penn Stroud, giving up three hits and two runs, striking out ten and walking one.

Williams, Burch, and Cramer all hurled for the Department Store in their battle against the flood of Hotel runs. The Penn Stroud had their biggest inning in the fifth, collecting eight runs.

Shick had a homer for the Hotel, and Taylor had a double. Cramer and Bush had doubles for the store.

Moore Seen Heavy Choice Over Italian

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Lightweight champion Archie Moore apparently has won the battle of the bulge and now rates as an overwhelming favorite to make it a short war with Italy's Giulio Rinaldi.

Moore's fight to reduce his roly-poly figure to its present streamlined shape figured to be tougher than anything the stocky Italian could muster against him in their title fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

The big question, as always with Moore for contests at the light-heavy limit of 175 pounds, was whether the 44-year-old champ could streamline his paunchy figure without weakening himself.

Once again he seems to have turned the trick. He scaled 178 Wednesday even before working out with a sparmate and the heavy bags at his training camp here.

He looked sleek and trim. The tummy was almost all gone and he moved like a cat at times. "Sleek? I like that word," said Archie. "I'm always sleek at 175 or close to it. This is going to be a little different than it was at Rome."

Beyond that Archie wouldn't make any prediction.

Archie Moore

"Rest assured it will be a good fight," he said. The champ has looked terrific in some of his boxing drills. His jab has been working like a lance and he has been ripping off fast left-right combinations with power.

Rinaldi, on the other hand, has been disappointing in his workouts. The 26-year-old Italian gained a narrow decision over Moore in a non-title fight in Rome last Oct. 29. Tint earned him, title fight, Moore weighed 190½ pounds that night and he looked it.

Susquehanna Match Draws Top Golfers

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The eighth annual 72-hole medal play Sunnehanna Tournament of Champions, one of the top 10 amateur golf events in the country, opens Friday with a field of 39.

Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta, Ga., is the defending champion. He shot a record 15 under par 273 in winning the 1960 title. So far he has unanswered an invitation to defend the crown.

The opening round is scheduled for Friday with 36 holes on Saturday and the final 18 holes on Sunday.

This year's field will come from 24 states and Mexico and includes 11 state amateur champions. The import is Juan Antonio Estrada of Torreon, Mex., a bantamweight swinger who tied for third place last year, four strokes behind Dahlbender.

State amateur champs accepting invitations are Larry Beem, New Mexico; Neil Cronquist, Minnesota; Al Kelley Jr., Florida; M. C. Methvin Jr., Arkansas; Ed Moehling Jr., Illinois; Arthur A. Ruffin Jr., North Carolina; Richard L. Siderow, Connecticut; Ellis Taylor, Delaware; Ed Tutwiler, West Virginia; Robert Woodfin Jr., Alabama, and Sam Carmichael, Indiana.

Carmichael, a husky long-ball hitter, also holds the open and junior laurels for the Hoosier state. Pennsylvania's John H. Guenther Jr. of Reading and Texas' Homero Blancas Jr. of Houston are other state open titleholders enrolled.

The only former Sunnehanna champion back is the well-traveled Billy Hyndman III of Huntington Valley, Pa., the 1958 winner. He has a little redeeming to do after a 15th-place finish last year.

The tournament will carry a touch of football with the appearance of Wayne Hardin, head coach at the U.S. Naval Academy. It will mark the first time Hardin has played in the Sunnehanna.

Taking another crack at the title is Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., who was runner-up in both 1959 and 60. Dr. Updegraff has grabbed off many of the country's leading tourneys, including the Western Amateur, but has been unable to snatch the Sunnehanna crown in a half-dozen tries.

New hazards will make the Sunnehanna course even more dangerous this year. Water ponds have been placed in strategic positions on the fourth, fifth and 14th holes.

Bonus Pact Of Cub, 19, Brings Cries

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — McNeese State baseball coach Reed Stephens protested to Commissioner Ford Frick Wednesday over the signing of a McNeese athlete by the Chicago Cubs.

Donald Barnett, 19, of Mount Vernon, Ala., a McNeese sophomore, signed a Cub pact last week for a reported bonus of $2,500.

They signed that boy for peanuts," said the unhappy Stephens. "I'm happy to see any boy I coach go to the major leagues. But only one in a thousand ever makes it all the way."

Stephens said five or six major league scouts had conferred with him about Barnett.

"I told them, and the boy, the same thing—he might make the grade later but he's not ready yet," Barnett, an outfielder, reported to the Morristown, Tenn., team in the Appalachian League.

"If Barnett had gotten a sizeable bonus, I mean somewhere around $20,000-$25,000, I'd have been the first to congratulate him," Stephens said.

"But what is he going to do about his college education?" asked the veteran college coach. "Will he be interested in finishing after he's been away from it awhile? Will he have the money on a minor league salary to go to college now that he can't have a scholarship?"

"Those are the things that make me mad," said Stephens. The coach blasted organized professional baseball for raiding colleges for talent.

"Most scouts are pretty nice guys, but very few of them have any concern for the welfare of the boys they sign," fumed Stephens.

He called for an adoption by professional baseball of the rules governing the signing of college athletes maintained by professional football leagues.

The Los Angeles Dodgers stole 14 bases against the Pittsburgh Pirates last season. The Pirates stole one against Los Angeles. Bob Skaner stole it.

Work, Not Fishing On Cookie's Slate

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) Cookie Lavagetto arrived in the Twin Cities Thursday ready to to work.

"I didn't come here to go fishing," said the Minnesota Twins' manager, who was granted a week's vacation by club owner Calvin Griffith Tuesday. "I'm going to sit down with Calvin and see what can be done."

Griffith recalled the 48-year-old Lavagetto in the midst of the Twins' longest losing streak of the year—12 games.

"I don't know what can be done to help the club," Lavagetto continued. "We have no bench at all, our relief pitching is terrible and we need a couple good starters. I hope we can iron some of these things out this week."

Griffith was ready to get to business, too, but he was more anxious for his manager to get some rest.

"During the week, I hope to get Cookie's mind off baseball."

Will Speak At NL Confab

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dodger General Manager Buzz Bavasi says the National League, in expanding to 10 teams next year, will use a plan similar to the American League's for stocking its new teams with players.

Bavasi is a member of a committee that meets in Chicago June 19 to formulate a plan for supplying talent for the New York Mets and the Houston Colts.

Bavasi said the committee has junked a plan whereby players would be selected from a talent pool of 200 names, each existing club making available 25 players. A sliding scale of prices ranging from $50,000 to $150,000 was suggested.

Yanks Explode In 3rd, Set HR Streak Record

NEW YORK (AP)—After giving up a double and a triple in the first inning, Ralph Terry pitched hitless ball the rest of the way Wednesday and the New York Yankees swept the four-game series with the hapless Minnesota Twins by taking the finale 5-1. It was the visitors' 13th straight defeat. Billy Martin tripled in the first frame for the Twins and was driven home by Lenny Green's double.

The Yankees, meanwhile, pounded out two more home runs and set an American League record of slugging 31 homers in 16 games. The homers in this game were by Roger Maris, who now leads the major leagues with 17 this year, and by Yogi Berra.

All the Yankee runs came in a fat third inning at the expense of Pedro Ramos, veteran right-hander whose mark now is 3-7. Terry now is 3-0.

The Yankees of 1941 hold the record for the most home runs in a series of games with 40 run-trippers in 25.

Unbeaten Bosox Rookie Defeats Kansas City, 6-2

BOSTON (AP)—Unbeaten Boston rookie Don Schwall whipped Kansas City 6-2 Wednesday for his fourth straight major league pitching victory.

The big right-hander who played no serious baseball until he had entered the University of Oklahoma allowed nine hits, but bore down effectively in the clutch.

Jackie Jensen drove in two runs with a pair of doubles while Carroll Hardy contributed three singles and stole home in an eye-popping exhibition of speed.

Schwall reached base three times including a "life" on third baseman Reno Bertoia's error in the fifth inning which touched off a decisive Red Sox spree of four unearned runs.

Schwall was touched for single runs in the third and sixth innings.

With two on and two out in the fourth, Hardy outraced an infield

6-Run Frame Does Trick For P-Valley

TANNERSVILLE journeyed to Pleasant Valley for a league high school baseball game, and fell prey to a six-run Valley inning, losing the game, 6-1.

After the third inning, Tannersville led with the lone run of the game, but Pleasant Valley bats connected for a flurry of singles in the sixth, to put the cap on the contest.

There were no extra base hits. Everett worked the first part of the game for Pleasant Valley, and Borger finished up. Ask pitched good ball until the sixth, where he got two men out but allowed four runs. Beseker took the chores and in the last third of the inning, gave up a hit which allowed two men to score.

4th Annual Gap Regatta This Weekend

AT ITS MEETING Tuesday night in Louise's Hofbrau, the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce announced that plans for the Fourth Annual Delaware Water Gap Regatta are almost completed.

The regatta is for power boats and will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 10 and 11.

Layton Osborn, head of the Regatta Committee, reported that the Atlantic Refining Company and local service stations and dealers were providing free gas and oil for the racers.

The firm is also donating trophies for one race to be known as the Atlantic Classic. This will be run on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the AS H class.

The committee also reported that a Philadelphia concern, the Worthington Boat Sales and Service Inc., was furnishing the six-passenger pontoon boat "Riviera" as a patrol boat for the event.

Worthington will pilot the craft. The Portland Ambulance Corps is again furnishing ambulance service in case of accident. This was proved effective last year in rushing Paul Musso to the Monroe County General Hospital.

All plans for publicity are tied in with the promotion campaign of the Atlantic Gas Co. The Chamber of Commerce will take over the parking concession. Walter Kilde Co. will donate fire-fighting equipment.

Bob Stauffer of Stroudsburg will supply the second patrol boat, these boats to be used in keeping unauthorized boats off the course.

The regatta is sanctioned by the American Power Boat Assoc., and will be run under the auspices of the Delaware Valley Outboard Racing Association of Philadelphia.

Referee will be Charles Hornickel, regional chairman of the American Power Boat Association, scorers will be Marty Hornickel and Eleanor Fox, and a starter will be Joe Davis.

Parking will be available at the Kittatinny Beach parking area, price fifty cents, this including a souvenir program.

Trophies for the race on Saturday will be presented to winners at the Glenwood Hotel on Saturday night, and trophies for the Sunday segment will be given in the pits immediately after the races.

The regatta committee consists of Osborn, Stephen Matos, Eugene Lettler, William Heitner, and Harold, Crossdale.

The trophy, which is included in the price of parking, has features on the power boat association, the regatta itself, and explains the meaning of the various class designations.

It lists boats and entries and has a printed scorecard for marking winners of individual heats as well as final winners.

Dove Count Begins

WASHINGTON (AP)—The annual census of the dove population is under way and will be used in the preparation of the 1961-62 dove hunting regulations, the Interior Department reported Wednesday.

Robin Roberts' Slow Start 'Not Because Of Phillies'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—This was no time to shake the oily hand of trainer Frank Wiehe who was busily engaged trying to rub the first victory of the season into the once sturdy right arm of Robin Roberts, one of the great pitchers in National League history.

Roberts, in 13 seasons with the Philadelphia Phils, compiled 233 victories but for him the 1961 campaign hadn't actually started. He had failed to win any of his first eight starts this spring.

He has since won his first game of the year against the Giants.

In his seventh start he was pitching to Dick Stuart of Pittsburgh. He fanned Stuart but in trying to put stuff on the pitch he felt something pop in his arm.

He said he had nothing on the ball the rest of that game. The next day a doctor gave him a shot of cortisone and told him to take five days off.

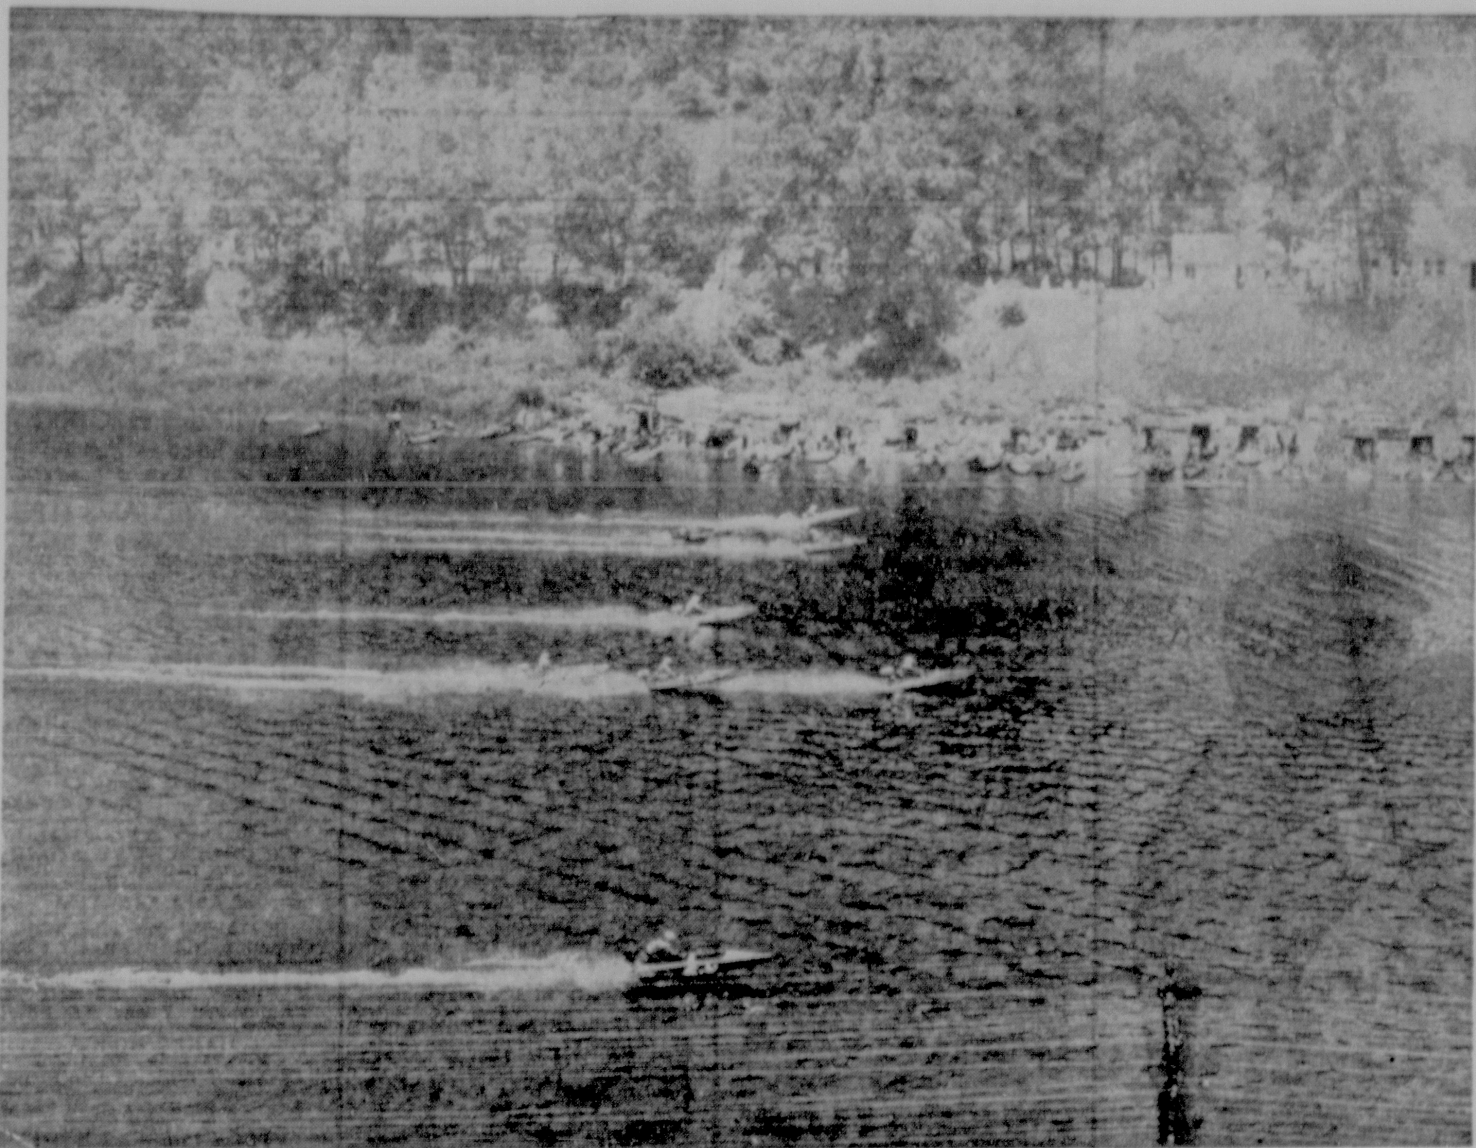

"I've been forcing myself for a long time," Roberts said as he sat up on the rubbing table. "I've been trying to bull my way through."

Roberts' 0-7 record couldn't have been much worse. Yet he had some hard luck, such as losing a 3-2 game on an infield hit and getting involved in games where his teammates carried hitless bats.

"Being with a club that is down in the standings does not keep me from pitching good ball. I've always said that when a pitcher gives up a run he can expect to get beaten. Watch Art Mahaffey. He's pitching for the same club."

Mahaffey happens to be one of the brightest young pitchers in the league. At 23 he is a sophomore but already is Philadelphia's new glamour boy. Everyone expects big things of him.

Had Roberts lost confidence? "Well, there are days when I have more confidence off the field than on it," Roberts smiled.

FLASH IN THE BASIN—The Fourth Annual Delaware Water Gap Regatta will be held this Saturday and Sunday, June 10 and 11. Portland, Stroudsburg and Philadelphia have contributed to the success of the regatta, as well as Delaware Water Gap. The annual race is sponsored by the Delaware Water Gap

Chamber of Commerce. Philadelphia is contributing a patrol boat. Stroudsburg is contributing patrol boats and Portland is providing emergency equipment and ambulance service. There will be a program for spectators.

At Dorney Park

Scouts Feted Friday

SCOUT Night, an annual feature at the Dorney Park Speedway, Allentown, will be held this Friday night, 8:30 p.m. in conjunction with the stock car races.

Producer Jerry Fried will have as his guests all Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies and Camp Fire Girls who appear in uniform and they will gather at the track at 8 o'clock and sit in seats along the finish line.

In the Scout night program an added attraction will be free stock car rides for all children at the races—with the boys and girls riding in cars driven by their favorite drivers.

There will be no charge whatsoever for the Scouts and their admission will be the wearing of a scout uniform.

In the seven-event card of races, four qualifying heats of 10 laps each will be followed by two semi-final races at 12-lap duration. The closing event, a 25-lap feature, will have the leading drivers of the night in action.

Dorney Park has held three shows this year with three different winners — Bob Brack, Quakertown; Del Hahn, Slating-

Brewer's Arm

Causes Layoff

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox Wednesday put veteran right-handed pitcher Tom Brewer on the disabled list and purchased the contract of former Ohio State athlete Galen Cisco.

Brewer (3-2) has been plagued with arm trouble in recent weeks. Cisco, star linebacker of the 1968 Rose Bowl football game against Oregon, had a 6-1 record with Seattle farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

100-Mile Indy Race Set For Langhorne

LANGHORN, Pa. — Jack Rounds, of Bell, Cal and Rex Easton, of Springfield, Ill., will be battling for one of the eighteen starting positions in the USAC sanctioned 100-mile National championship, scheduled for the Langhorne Speedway, June 18. This will be the only appearance of the Indianapolis drivers and cars at the 'Horne this season.

Rounds, a 30-year old West Coast broadsider, was the leader in the 'Horne 1960 classic, at the 20-mile spot and also the 30-mile mark. He finished seventh in the event. The California speedster will be driving the Bruce Homeyer entry in the June 18 championship. This is the same mount that Don Branson piloted to the present worldmark for the mile. Easton, a veteran midget auto campaigner, was fourth at the finish of the 1959 century at the Bucks County course. Twice the 45-year old ace has taken the western title and three times he has been runnerup in the National midget auto standing. Easton will be tooling the Stearly Motor Freight Special, out of nearby Collegeville, Pa. in the Langhorne "100." Ken Hickey, a mechanic who is noted for his ability to setup championship equipment, especially for 'Horne events, will be the chief mechanic with the Easton team.

More than twenty-five entries, including the recent Indianapolis winner, A. J. Foyt, of Houston, Texas, will be among those battling for starting positions. Foyt will be driving the Boxes Seal Fast Special. Also entered are: Don Branson, of Illinois; Dick Rathman, veteran Indiana pilot; Cotton Farmer, of Fort Worth, Tex. and Jiggs Peters, Garden State ace, and winner of the April midget auto classic at the 'Horne.

Pitts'g Briber Gets Jail Term

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dr. Edward H. Sebastian, 33, former Pitt dental instructor, convicted of attempting to bribe two Pitt basketball players to shave points, Wednesday drew a 8-23-month jail term. He also was fined $1,000.

John Fridley of Sharon, Pa., and Richard Falenski of Latrobe, Pa., both Pitt seniors, testified that in December 1969 Dr. Sebastian asked them to shave points in Pitt basketball games.

In return, they said, the 33-year-old dentist offered to share his gambling winnings, guarantee their entrance into dental school and other inducements.
